Attendance: Class attendance is expected of all students. You are responsible for all lecture material and announcements made in class.

Your attendance grade for the course will be based on your attendance at the recitations. There are 20 points (out of 500) allotted for your attendance grade. Your recitation meets 30 times this semester and you will be allowed two unexcused absences from the recitations. We will compute your attendance grade by taking the number N of recitation classes you attend and multiply 20 by the fraction N/28 to determine the number of points you receive for your attendance grade. (Thus, after rounding, you could actually receive 21 points for your attendance grade if you attend all 30 recitation classes.)

Students who have conflicts with scheduled exams must notify me as soon as possible and no less than two weeks before the conflict. Students with a scheduled absence (travel or authorized university excuse) must notify their TA before the absence if they wish it to count as an excused absence for the attendance grade. These students should complete web homework while traveling and turn in written assignments before they leave.

WeBWorK homework cannot be accepted after the due date. Thus you should always make sure to be aware of all due dates, even if you have an authorized university excuse to miss class.

Late assignments and exams without an excused absence may result in the loss of points equivalent to one letter grade.

Classroom Demeanor: Turn off all cell phones or other electronic devices prior to entering the classroom. An attitude of respect for and civility towards other students in the class and the instructor is expected at all times.
