

Math club presents:

Modeling Connections

Pairwise connections are common in the world around us: friendships, hyperlinked pairs of web pages, cities connected by an interstate highway or a flight route, and more. The natural structure to model these situations is known as a graph or network. In this talk, I'll share a few famous graphs/networks, and discuss a few interesting properties of these objects.

With Dr. Ben Braun

on Zoom

444 869 5740

passcode: math

This Thursday, 10/1/20 at 5 PM